

In Honor of Mother's Day, New Website and Training Program Will Help Moms Create Six Figure Work At Home Business

With the launch appropriately coinciding with Mother's Day, a new training program targeted at working moms, and dubbed 6 Figure Work At Home Mom, is being introduced on May 16, 2007. The program includes a five-week teleconference series designed to teach moms how to create a work at home business that will yield them a six-figure income. Full details and online registration are available at <http://www.6FigureWorkAtHomeMom.com/6stepclass.html>

San Diego, CA (PRWeb) April 30, 2007 -- With the launch appropriately coinciding with Mother's Day, a new training program targeted at working moms, and dubbed 6 Figure Work At Home Mom, is being introduced on May 16, 2007. The program includes a five-week teleconference series designed to teach moms how to create a work at home business that will yield them a six-figure income. Full details and online registration are available at <http://www.6FigureWorkAtHomeMom.com/6stepclass.html>

This new program is the brainchild of marketing veteran and small business entrepreneur Debbie LaChusa. Based on LaChusa's 17-year career as both a part-time and full-time work at home mom, the program will teach participants the steps LaChusa has taken to build her own home-based businesses that allow her to earn six figures and still be home with her children.

"I blazed new ground 17 years ago after my first child was born and I negotiated a part-time, work from home agreement with the advertising agency I was employed by at the time," says LaChusa. "Flex-time didn't even exist back then, especially in the agency business. Since then I have always found a way to work either part-time or full-time from home, and earn a great living."

Participants in the program also receive a variety of marketing tools, including LaChusa's complete 10stepmarketing System, to support them in the marketing of their work at home business.

LaChusa has 21 years of business and marketing experience, including eight years running her own, home based marketing consulting firm, DLC Marketing, Inc. In 2004 she opened her second home based business, 10stepmarketing, which offers Internet-based coaching and training products and services for solo-professionals and small business owners.

For more information on 6 Figure Work At Home Mom and to view a "Tribute to Work At Home Moms" video and register for a free special report and work at home business tips, visit <http://www.6FigureWorkAtHomeMom.com> To register for the five-week training program that begins on May 16, 2007, visit <http://www.6FigureWorkAtHomeMom.com/6stepclass.html>

###