San Diego, CA (PRWeb) September 20, 2007 -- A free Ebook titled "Do You Have What It Takes To Be A 6-Figure Work At Home Mom?" is now available from www.6FigureWorkAtHomeMom.com, an Internet-based business committed to helping mothers successfully balance career and family.

The Ebook was written by 6FigureWorkAtHomeMom founder Debbie LaChusa who has been either a part-time or full-time work at home mom for the past 18 years. According to LaChusa, the Ebook includes a checklist women can use to gauge where they are with regard to work and family, including their desires and motivations, so they can determine if becoming a 6-figure work at home mom is a reasonable goal.

"In the past four months since I introduced the 6FigureWorkAtHomeMom website I have received over 80 questions from women about becoming a 6-figure work at home mom," said LaChusa. "Most of those questions are about how to do it and if it is really possible," continued LaChusa. "Of course it is possible, I have done it and so have other women, but it is not for every mother. This Ebook will help women discover if it is right for them."

LaChusa is also offering a five-week teleclass series starting October 16, 2007 called "6 Steps to Becoming a 6-Figure Work At Home Mom" designed to teach women how to create a work at home business that will earn them a six-figure income. The early bird registration fee (by October 1, 2007) for the five-week teleclass series is $107. After October 1st, the registration fee is $127.
